

Executive Consequence Management Program

Introduction

The Executive Consequence Management (ECM) program is an innovative leadership initiative for Senior Leaders and Managers in Emergency Management where delegates create an integrated approach to leadership while keeping the community at the centre before, during and after an emergency or crisis.

Program Overview

The ECM program has been developed in response to the Victorian Government's Emergency Management transformational change agenda, where it is a key initiative to drive strategic leadership, behavioural change and decision making before, during and after an emergency. Unlike other leadership programs, the Executive Consequence Management program is designed specifically for those in senior leadership roles across all departments, agencies and businesses and that meets the strategic demands to form a strong coalition.

The ECM program is designed to assist Emergency Management leaders to deliver the best practice outcomes for the communities you work with. This program combines presentations, leading guest speakers, scenario testing and strategic project work where the leadership of executives is increased to equip them to lead collaboratively between agencies and businesses in major emergencies and crises.

The program includes a distinguished array of leading speakers from diverse backgrounds in Public, Private and Non-Government Organisations sectors. The program delegates also create an ongoing collaborative learning environment through its active ECM Alumni program.

The program is a joint leadership initiative between Barrington Centre and Emergency Management Victoria.

Program Framework

COMMUNITY

Ensure that the community are at the centre of everything we do before, during and after an emergency or crisis.

“The program has stretched me and my thinking. It has opened my mind to the importance and value of establishing robust and sustainable links with our communities. It has also challenged my understanding and practice of thinking - and ultimately, acting – strategically.”

Delegate, DHHS

COLLABORATION

Emergency Management system collaboration is key in meeting the community’s expectations during complex emergencies.

“An intensive, detailed and all-inclusive program allowing for sharing and discussion of ideas and experiences with skilled colleagues across the State.”

Delegate, DELWP

CAPABILITY

Enabling, adaptive and well-rehearsed leaders are the key to success.

“The program sourced high quality, relevant subject experts who enhanced my knowledge of their areas of expertise. Exercises were informative and helpful to reinforce program messages.”

Delegate, CFA

Barrington Centre
